Come See This Book of "Cornell Interiors"

We have just received this new collection of views that shows the variety and charm of paneled interiors so easily obtained in any room by using Cornell Wood-Board instead of lath and plaster. Come in and see the finished effects that you can reproduce in your home, store, office, factory or garage with "Cornell 32" or "Cornell 48" widths. Cornell is everywhere admired because of its handsome "Oatmeal Finish" not found in other wallboards.

And Cornell's "Triple-Sizing" process gives triple protection against moisture, expansion and contraction.

Cornell Wood-Board

We recommend Cornell for new construction, remodeling and repairing because there is nothing cleaner, more sanitary and attractive, nor so inexpensive.

It is easily applied with hammer and nails right to the joists and studding or over damaged plaster. Come in now and look over the ideas in this new book.

"No Interruptions During Alterations—where Cornell-Wood-Board is used for walls, ceilings, partitions, exhibition booths or showrooms, no waiting weeks for walls to dry."

Cornell's "Mill-Primed" surface takes paint without staining. Saves the cost and labor of a stucco coat.

EXPLAINS ORIGIN OF "JAZZ"

At Last the Secret (?) Is Given to the World, and by an Englishman, Too.

Writing about the jazz reminds me that the subject is of such importance that a long cablegram was recently sent from London concerning the origin of the word. According to the cablegram, the secret is out, and it is an Englishman who gives us the valuable information.

He tells us that, while Englishmen should not be held responsible for the vernacular of their brethren in the Western continent, the word jazz, he admits, is now as much a household word in England as in America. And then he goes on to say that the word came from the South and from the negroes. Now in the South, he tells us, there is a term known as the hookworm, which affects all true southerners. Some unkind employers call it "hooker-itis." The white employer, according to the Englishman, in the South has many thousands of negroes working for him, and consequently many overseers. So, not being able to remember the names of all his foremen, he generally names each man Jasper, which, according to this Englishman, is a term of the highest esteem. Through the very human love of abbreviation, Jasper became "Jas." and as the overseer's principal means of getting work out of his underlings is through harsh and abusive tongue, he was often requested to "Jazz up" the work. The Southern drawl makes "Jazz" sound like "Jazz." And there we have the word itself. And jazz music, no matter what classic-loving critics may say about it, at least inspires energy. Hence the derivation. —Musical America.

TRAVEL IN "GOOD OLD DAYS"

Description of Journey Made in Early '50s Recalls the Hardships of the Pioneers.

The hardships of pioneer life in Wisconsin during the early '50s are vividly portrayed by Dr. John C. Reeve, in an article entitled, "A Physician in Pioneer Wisconsin," in the Wisconsin Magazine of History, published by the State Historical society.

The difficulties involved in the practice of medicine in a country almost devoid of roads, and with only the necessities of life, and with practically no money, are related by Doctor Reeve, who practiced in a small village in Dodge county. Of a journey made in January, 1852, he writes:

"Called to Cleveland by the critical illness of a sister, I left home on a Sunday morning in a sleigh, a private conveyance, and reached Milwaukee, about 50 miles away, that night. From there on runners to Chicago. Thence some 20 miles by Michigan Central railroad, and then by vehicle across to the Southern Michigan, at that time building from Toledo to Chicago. The appointments of the road were not yet made, so several times the train stopped, the passengers alighted and chopped fence rails to make fuel for the locomotives. From Toledo, on wheels, to a point on the railroad from Sandusky to Cincinnati; I think the place was Gallon. I reached my destination just at dark on Saturday night. I had traveled during the whole week, passing but two nights in bed."

More Ministers Needed.

It is from the families of the farmers and from the parsonage itself that new preachers come, according to a survey now being taken by the American education department of the Interchurch World Movement. The farms lead. The survey shows that out of every thousand pupils who enter the first grade of our American schools, only 38 enter college and only 14 remain to complete the course.

It is from those 14 that the churches recruit the great majority of their ministers. It is also disclosed by the survey that it requires about 5,000 new men every year merely to replace the gaps in the ranks of the ministry at home.

Possibly He Had.

As I was passing a yard where some children were playing I saw a little fellow fall from a high porch rail. He did not move for a minute so I ran to his assistance, but when I reached him he jumped up on his feet apparently unharmed.

"Why, my dear little boy," I said, "I felt sure you must be hurt. I am sure I should have been hurt if I had such a bad fall."

"Oh, but you see," he said in explanation, "I've probably had lots more practice in falling than you." —Exchange.

No Cork Wasted Now.

The best cork has hitherto come from Spain, but the richest forests of fair grade cork are now in Sardinia. High prices are now paid for cork that was not salable a few years ago, for even the refuse is valuable now in making conglomerate for building and for insulating refrigerators, cork being the best non-conductor of heat and sound.

Moving Picture Statistics.

It is estimated that the gross yearly income of moving picture theaters in this country is about $750,000,000. In 20 years' time the public has been educated to spend this huge sum. There are 15,000 theaters, with a total seating capacity of 8,000,000. This year 12,000 more theaters will be built at an aggregate cost of $72,000,000. —Argonaut.

Out of Place.

Aunt Hannah came home from church the other Sunday morning distinctly out of sorts. When asked what was wrong she answered that she thought there was not the proper reverence in that church. Dressed to give further explanation she finally did so.

"I didn't like any of the choir," she complained. "They were too fidgety looking to sing hymns and I thought it perfectly sacrilegious when that soprano got up in those slippers with the high, thin heels and sang, 'How Firm a Foundation, Ye Saints of the Lord.'"

The family she was visiting smiled but later admitted to themselves that it was indeed incongruous although not exactly sacrilegious.

Work Poor.

Charles M. Schwab at one of his Loretto dinner parties was talking about a man who was vainly beseeching the butler for a loan.

"He's a rich man, too," said Mr. Schwab; "but he's work poor."

"Work poor?" said a guest.

"Yes, work poor," Mr. Schwab repeated. "You see, he's always got so many operations in hand that he's always short of money to finance them. Work poor, I call it."

Then he smiled and added:

"He's one of those fellows who dig so much that they're always in a hole."

COLONEL RALPH D. COLE

Why He Should Be Elected Governor of Ohio.

Because he is eminently qualified from any angle you may view him.

His life experience and work on the farm has given him not only a keen interest in, but a greater devotion to agriculture—the basic industry of all industries—and its urgent needs.

He is an able lawyer. The executive of a great State should have a knowledge of the theory and practice of law.

He is an expert law-maker, having been actively identified for ten years with two great law-making bodies.

He has the talent, temperament and instinct of a statesman, evidence of which is found in the Cole revenue law fathered by him when under thirty years of age.

He has a practical knowledge of all the political machinery of government.

He has a broad and practical knowledge of the business interests of the State, evidence of which is seen in the large number of business organizations he is invited to address.

He is 100% plus American. He admired and loved our great men from his boyhood days. Of the great and saintly McKinley soon after his cruel assassination, in a public address, he said: "About the grave of McKinley this Nation should register a vow to Almighty God that this diabolical species of treason and treachery called anarchy shall be uprooted from our government and hurled back to the land of its birth. We welcome the worthy from foreign shores, but we shall not be the dumping ground for the profligate from the haunts of European vices."

He is a keen and close student of the great problems of the day.

He is a man, every inch a man—a true, royal, courageous, high-minded gentleman.
